for the support in troops and material the two countries have given his government.

South Vietnamese military headquarters reported 10 mortar and small-arms attacks against outposts, camps and one airfield in widely scattered sectors. In three of these actions, a Vietnamese spokesman said, government troops killed 82 of the enemy.

The largest of these engagements took place about 30 miles southwest of Saigon. There a Vietnamese ranger unit claimed killing 57 Viet Cong while sustaining light casualties.

Just north of Saigon, the 10-day-old American-Vietnamese sweep through the "Iron Triangle" continued with U.S. units reporting 76 more Communists killed and four more captured.

This raised to 466 the Viet Cong reported killed by U.S. forces and to 73 the number captured. In addition, 199 have surrendered voluntarily and 415 suspects have been held for questioning.

findings to the legislature within 21 days.

The resolution was introduced by Sen. Joe Lee Anderson of Helena.

A similar measure was introduced by Sen. Knox Nelson of Pine Bluff, but his bill calls for creation of a 15-member commission that would report its findings to the next General Assembly, two years from now.

Nelson said he thought the penitentiary should be investigated by the committee of legislators in order for corrective legislation to be enacted this year, but that he thought the commission would be needed on a long-range basis.

The commission would be composed of persons appointed by the governor and by various legal and law enforcement agencies.

In addition to the tax refund bill, the House adopted a Senate resolution establishing a joint committee on constitutional amendments.

Under the constitution, the legislature may submit only three proposed amendments to voters in each general election. In 1965, the House and Senate were unable to agree on which three amendments would be submitted and wound up with none on the ballot.

This year, the House and Senate Committees on Constitutional Amendments will be asked to get together on three to be submitted to the voters.

The House committee has 16 members and the Senate only five, but each, in effect, will have one vote, since both committees will have to approve the amendments.

Until the legislature has acted on the three amendments recommended by the joint committee, it can consider no others.

Rep. Koz Ledbetter Jr. of Little Rock proposed an amendment Monday that would clear the way for public-supported kindergartens and adult education programs by removing age restrictions on free public education.

A similar bill was introduced earlier in the session in the Senate.

The permissive legislation would eliminate the age restrictions now set at six and 21.

Sen. Guy Jones of Conway introduced a bill to establish a civil service commission and a merit system for state employees.

The 35-page bill, one of the longest introduced during this General Assembly, provides for the governor to appoint the three-member commission. Each commissioner would serve a six-year term.

A bill directing the state Highway Commission to establish a system of farm-to-market roads was introduced by Rep. J. L. Shaver Jr. of Wynne.

The system would include main rural mail and school bus routes that are now the principal county roads and would incorporate them into the state highway system during the next biennium.

Also approved in the Senate Monday were measures to:

- Increase the salaries of the Fort Smith Municipal Judge from $10,800 to $12,000, the court clerk from $4,200 to $5,200 and the deputy clerk from $2,700 to $3,600.
- Increase Pulaski County's Homicide Squad Fund from $4,000 to $10,000.
- Increase the salary totals for the Pulaski County Prosecuting Attorney's office from $30,600 to $60,000 and for stenographers from $17,580 to $25,000.
- Increase the salary of the circuit court reporter in the - Change the name of Arkansas State Teachers College to State College of Arkansas.

- Provide for delivery of bills to the governor's office as soon as they are acted on by both houses.

The Senate convenes at 1 p.m. Tuesday.

Other measures introduced in the House included:

- A proposed constitutional amendment permitting the electors of each county to fix the salaries of county officials.
- Another proposed constitutional amendment exempting the first $5,000 of assessed valuation of persons 65 years or older from the property tax.
- A bill providing that doctors and other persons with knowledge of cases of child abuse or neglect report to the authorities and giving state and county welfare departments the power to investigate such reports.
- To provide that all aircraft operated primarily in Arkansas be registered with the Arkansas Department of Aeronautics.
- A bill prohibiting the state Revenue Department from issuing reflectorized license plates, a proposal its sponsor, Rep. L. L. Bryan of Russellville, estimated would save the state $180,000 to $185,000.
- A resolution asking Congress to repeal the system of fees for access to national park and recreational areas.

Other bills introduced in the Senate Monday included those to:

- Establish a State Misdemeanor Farm at the Arkansas State Penitentiary in order to segregate persons convicted of misdemeanors from those convicted of felonies.
- Increase the gallonage tax on alcoholic beverages to $2.50 for liquor, 75 cents for wine (except that fermented and manufactured in Arkansas), 20 cents for malt liquor and 31 cents for beer.
- Propose a constitutional amendment requiring voters to list their political affiliations.
- Levy an additional two percent premium tax on automobile liability insurance sold by out-of-state insurance firms.
- Make wire-tapping a felony punishable by 2-5 years in prison.
- Authorize the Board of Trustees of the Arkansas Tuberculosis Sanatorium to donate 200 acres of land to the city of Booneville for construction of an airport.
- Permit the governor to fill a vacancy on a board of commissioners in cities having the commission form of government if the commission fails to fill the vacancy within 14 days after it occurs.

Testimony

Continues in Baker Case

By RAYMOND J. CROWLEY
WASHINGTON (AP) — More testimony in the Bobby Baker trial is expected today from Wayne L. Bromley, a one-time Baker associate who already has testified that he included as income on his tax returns money which actually went to Baker.

Bromley, an unemployed lobbyist, related for the prosecution in federal court Monday how he and Baker, then the secretary to Senate Democrats, stepped into an alcove of the Senate library and split a $5,000 payment $0-50.

"Later Mr. Baker and I agreed that I would report the entire $5,000 on my income tax," Bromley testified. When it came to figuring his taxes, Bromley said, he finally had to get Baker out of bed eight months after the normal filing deadline in order to straighten out their many deals.

Baker is charged with income tax evasion, converting $80,000 of campaign contributions to his own use, and conspiracy.

Bromley testified the $5,000 was for expediting in 1962 a charter for the Redwood National Bank in San Rafael, Calif. He said his part of the work consisted of calling up Baker to see how the matter was coming along. The charter was granted in early 1963.

Bromley said the $5,000 check was made out in his name, he endorsed it, Baker cashed it, and then he and Baker "walked down the corridor to a door marked Senate library. We stepped into an alcove at the foot of the steps, and he took $2,500 and I took $2,500."

Bromley testified about receiving check after check from a freight forwarding concern and from the First Western Financial Corp. of Las Vegas, Nev.

Mostly, he said, he cashed the checks and turned the money over to Baker. Sometimes, he said, a check made out to him would be cashed without his knowledge — somebody else signed his name.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government is planning a national campaign against car theft and is seeking — through persuasion or legislation — to have automobile manufacturers make their cars harder to steal.

Announcing this today, Asst. Atty. Gen. Fred M. Vinson Jr. said steering wheel, transmission and hood locks and more secure ignition systems are devices which would help reverse the rising trend of automobile thefts.

Vinson said the Justice Department has conferred with industry representatives "with a view to installation of feasible and effective devices at the earliest practicable date."

"We are following with interest the automobile industry's activity in this regard and we are considering legislation, if necessary, to require installation of anti-theft devices at the point of manufacture or assembly," he said in testimony prepared for the Senate subcommittee on Juvenile Delinquency.

Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., the subcommittee chairman, said his group also is considering legislation which would require anti-theft devices on new cars.

Their talk of possible new laws dealing with automobile equipment came with manufacturers and the government at odds over the number and nature of safety devices to be required on 1968 model cars under a law passed by the 89th Congress.

Vinson said the criminal division of the Justice Department is coordinating a national auto theft prevention campaign, due to begin about March 1. He said 19 organizations of automobile owners, manufacturers, officials and law officers are participating.

Vinson said these are among the programs that will be part of the campaign:

- A drive for the enactment of local laws which would make it illegal for motorists to leave the ignition key in unattended cars, a public information program to encourage motorists to lock their cars and take out the ignition keys when they park, strengthened automobile title laws and legislation to regulate the sale of motor vehicle master keys.

Rules Lawyers

Can Use 5th Amendment

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled 5 to 4 today that lawyers may not be disbarred for refusing on self-incrimination grounds to testify concerning their dealings with clients.

The Fifth Amendment protection "should not be watered down by imposing the dishonor of disbarment and the deprivation of a livelihood as a price for asserting it," Justice William O. Douglas said for the majority.

With its ruling in the case of a Brooklyn lawyer, the court overruled its own 1961 decision that the self-incrimination clause of the Fifth Amendment was not applicable to the states through the 14th Amendment in such instances, Douglas said the clause "extends its protection to lawyers as well as to other individuals."

The ruling reverses an order by the Appellate Division of the New York Supreme Court. That court had ordered lawyer Samuel Spevack disbarred, holding that the constitutional privilege against self-incrimination was not available to him in light of the Supreme Court's 1961 decision.

The case stemmed from an order by the New York court in 1957 for an inquiry into alleged unethical practices in the representation of clients on a contingent fee basis.

Spevack, during the inquiry, refused to answer questions and to produce his records, citing the constitutional privilege against self-incrimination. The Appellate Division ordered his disbarment, effective Oct. 1, 1965.

The Appellate Division said that while an attorney has an absolute right to the privilege, when he invokes it "he falls in his inherent duty to the court to divulge all pertinent information necessary to show his character and fitness to remain a member of the bar and necessary to the proper administration of justice, and he must, consequently, forfeit his privilege of remaining a member of the bar."

"The threat of disbarment and the loss of professional standing, professional reputation, and of livelihood are powerful forms of compulsion to make a lawyer relinquish the privilege," — against possible self-incrimination — Douglas said.

The dinner culminated celebration of "Archbishop Iakovos Day" officially proclaimed in all 50 states of the nation.

Services in his honor were held in the 400 Orthodox churches in North and South America. He has been head of the church in the Western Hemisphere for the past seven years.

Attending the dinner was Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, who said of the archbishop: "America is a much better country because of the spiritual leadership of this man."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa tosses his national trucking contract demands on the bargaining table today, asking 5 to 7 per cent wage hikes for 450,000 workers.

Hoffa, who could be in prison before negotiations are completed, has said Teamsters' demands will range up to 7 per cent for trucking employees now earning from $3.31 to $5 per hour.

This does not include fringe benefits, which Hoffa estimates run about $1.10 per hour on the average now. The Teamsters are expected to demand improvements in this area also.

Hoffa was to exchange contract proposals with a group of negotiators for some 12,000 trucking firms, headed by Trucking Employers Inc.

Hoffa aides and some trucking firms have expressed concern that the negotiations could bog down if Hoffa is imprisoned on his jury-tampering conviction before a contract agreement is reached.

But spokesmen for some major trucking firms said they believed the talks could go on normally even without Hoffa.

Hoffa has until Feb. 4 to file a request for a new hearing before the Supreme Court, which upheld his eight-year jury-tampering sentence in December.

The trucking contract deadline is March 31. Hoffa is not expected to be free much beyond mid-March unless he wins a further delay of his 1964 prison sentence. He is also appealing a five-year mail fraud sentence.

Today's exchange of contract proposals opens renegotiation of the master national trucking contract the Teamsters first hammered out three years ago, climaxing a 30-year campaign.

It covers most of the nation's city, state and cross-country trucking firms. The new talks are aimed at a three-year contract.

The Teamsters' demands, Hoffa said in Hollywood, Fla., two weeks ago, will be "within the elastic formula of 5 to 7 per cent" of other recent major labor settlements.

Necessity of Bombings

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Vance Hartke, a foe of bombing attacks on North Vietnam, proposed today that President Johnson set up a board to determine if the bombing is serving "our own interest."

As Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, defended the bombing, the Indiana Democrat said the President should have impartial advice on whether the raids are accomplishing goals of boosting South Vietnamese morale, cutting supply lines and prodding Hanoi toward negotiations.

Hartke recalled in an interview a bomb survey after World War II which he said showed that despite heavy bombardment German production and the will to resist increased.

In other developments:

- Wheeler, at a Pentagon news conference, defended the bombing raids as "an integral, indispensable part" of American operations.
- Rusk told newsmen following a four-hour closed session with the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that bombing would continue while American diplomats "keep trying to find out" whether a halt in the raids would be a move toward peace.
- Pentagon sources said 10,000 more GIs will go to South Vietnam this month, boosting the U.S. force to 405,000; they predicted strength will reach 475,000 by the end of the year.
- Patrick Shaw, Australian ambassador to the United Nations, told U.N. Secretary-General U Thant his government disagrees with Thant's recent assertion that Vietnam is not strategically vital to Western security.
- It was learned that in the congressional Republicans' State of the Union program Thursday, Sen. Everett M. Dirksen will reaffirm GOP support of the President's course in Vietnam but will criticize U.S. foreign policy elsewhere.
- Rusk said his meeting with the Foreign Relations Committee covered continuing American efforts to promote negotiations of the war, but he reported no hints of success in this quest. He declined to assess events inside Red China or their potential effect on the war.

source said.

Ford, who will be in charge of domestic questions, already has promised a Republican effort to cut domestic spending and scrap the proposed 6 per cent surtax.

Ford advocates an 8 per cent increase in Social Security payments, far less than the 20 per cent Johnson proposed. He said Republicans want future Social Security increases triggered whenever the cost of living climbs 3 per cent, contending this would provide increased benefits with no boost in Social Security taxes.

Ford will advocate steps to prepare the United States for possible deployment of an antiballistic missile system to counter one said to be under construction in the Soviet Union.

Ford will declare that Johnson has not used appropriations voted by past Congresses to begin advance work on an antiballistic missile system.

Johnson, in his address, did not recommend deployment of such a missile defense network.

Ford also will propose a program to split a share of federal tax revenues with the states and cities—scaling down some current federal aid programs to provide more money for the unrestricted grants.

More Than Democrats

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional Republicans are off and running in fund-raising for the 1968 campaign but Democrats are waiting to see what trends Congress takes before starting their drive.

Sen. George Murphy of California, newly elected chairman of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee, said he is beginning to deploy GOP "fresh faces" across the country for what he hopes will be an uninterrupted appeal for votes up to election day next year.

But Sen. Warren G. Magnuson of Washington, chairman of Democratic senatorial campaigners, took the position in a separate interview that it's too early to get excited about an election so far away.

Under the party custom, Magnuson must be replaced as chairman because his own seat is at stake in 1968. But he said Democrats decided to postpone any decision on a successor "until things shake down."

Reports to the clerk of the House show that Magnuson's committee spent little more than half what its counterpart GOP group spent in the 1966 campaign: Democrats $356,457, Republicans $639,640.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The quality of network television "second season," generally suggests that perhaps the first season was not as bad as we thought it was.

ABC's "Rango" on Friday was the most recent bedraggled arrival. It falls in the comedy-western category and apparently was inspired by the least amusing aspects of "Laredo" and "F Troop." "Laredo," at least, has a rowdy quality and "F Troop" is pretty funny sometimes and its blocked comedy sequences are often inspired.

"Rango," on the other hand, can claim the loudest, longest laugh track in television. It also has Tim Conway playing his predictable part—the bumbling idiot, Conway is now a Texas Ranger—the kind that falls off his horse and is scared of guns.

The series is particularly disappointing because it is the first product of Danny Thomas' new partnership with Aaron Spelling after those great years with Sheldon Leonard. They turned out the "Dick Van Dyke Show," "The Andy Griffith Show" and Thomas' own comedy series, all of them programs of quality, substance and individuality.

Seven of the second season's 10 shows have moved into the schedules. ABC replaces "12 O'clock High" with "The Avengers" next Friday—but this hardly counts as a new series since it was a slick British import that quietly attracted a following last spring and summer when it was also a replacement.

Toward the end of the month "Coliseum," a variety series, will replace CBS' "Jericho," a good adventure show but a ratings failure. The "Smothers Brothers Show," a variety hour replacing Gary Moore's hour on Sunday, will start early in February.

The networks are still busy trying to salvage shows. CBS hopes to give its Saturday night "Mission Impossible" a better chance by switching its position with "Pistols" N Petticoats.

NBC's "Road West," also in ratings trouble, is changing to a sort of "Wagon Train" format. Unless something unexpected happens, schedules will remain as they are until spring. The excitement for the rest of the season has got to come from the specials.

CBS' "Playhouse" kicks off on Jan. 29 with an original play about Vietnam, "The Final War of Willie Winter."

NBC's Sunday afternoon "Experiment in Television" premieres on Feb. 19 with "Losers Weepers," an original, filmed in the Watts area of Los Angeles. Peter Weiss' "The Investigation," its Broadway runover, comes to NBC on April 14.

Recommended tonight: "The Convulsion in China," CBS, news special, 10:30-11 EST, conversation among the "China watchers" in Hong Kong on recent events.

Goes Sexy in Spring Collection

By MARY CAMPBELL

NEW YORK (AP)—Pauline Trigere, known for her ladylike dress designs, has gone sexy in her spring collection. She's done it in a tantalizing but discreet way—we hasten to say—and she calls it "forbidden fruit."

In a show Thursday afternoon, Trigere's models wore tight-fitting strapless slip-dresses with built-in bras. But over these figure-revealing case-ments they wore overdresses to partially hide them. Made in translucent materials, the overdresses were sleeveless, high-necked and full-skirted.

Sometimes the outer-dress was net, sometimes lace, sometimes a brightly patterned chiffon casting shadows on the heavy silk slip-dress made in the same colorful pattern.

One among the "forbidden fruit" look was a short version of the full-length gown Trigere designed and wore to opening night of the new Metropolitan Opera. It was in black wool, with black net overdress, very full and sparkling all over with jewels.

For daytime wear, Trigere's famous trademarks of geatle elegance were all in evidence.

She showed the "nothing dress"—so subtly eased that it is neither a form-fitting sheath nor a loose shift. This is a deceptively simple looking dress that doesn't call attention to itself, is comfortable to wear and goes easily under the slimmest coat.

Trigere makes up for her underplayed dresses with her coats. She showed several sleeveless coats over long-sleeved dresses, since her attitude is that the function of a spring and summer coat is less that of warmth than of "finishing" a costume.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A newly arrived Cuban refugee says the wife of vanished Cuban revolutionary leader Ernesto Guevara wears black "like a widow."

Guevara was Cuba's No. 3 man until he disappeared from public view almost two years ago. There has been speculation he may be dead.

HELEN HELP US!

YOUTH ASKED FOR IT!

This column is for young people who have a problem. As with the rest of Helen Help US!, it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush-off.

Send your teenage questions to Helen Help US!, this newspaper.

NOT ENOUGH REASONS

Dear Helen: I am 10. My mother is getting married and I don't like the man she is marrying. My brother and I hate to eat at his house because we don't get much to eat, and we always end up doing the dishes. What would you tell us to do?—WORRY WART

Dear W. W.: Try to see his good points. A man isn't all bad just because he can't cook or do dishes.—H.

Dear Helen: I feel it's time to give a teenager's angle on "Mrs. Nobody's" story. It all began about three years ago when my man teacher started thinking of things to keep me after school putting up bulletins, doing clean-up work, etc. I was 12 then. After about a month, he'd stand in the door and point to his cheek. He wouldn't let me pass until I'd kissed him. About three months later he grabbed me as I tried to leave and held me very close. I tried to resist, but I was no match for a six foot man. Call me crazy, but I couldn't tell anyone. My parents work and haven't much time at home. I knew my dad would make a big clamor and the teacher would be fired and everybody would know. I wished him no trouble, I just wanted to be left alone.

Well, it's three years later. I go to a different school, but this teacher still bothers me. He calls me up at night and I have to pretend he's somebody else. He "persuades" me to accept rides home with him, including little detours. I'm afraid of him and afraid to tell, and so mixed up I could die. He is married, with grown children. Believe me, Helen, this "little siren" gave no fuel to the fire! What should I do?—SCARED STIFF

Dear Scared: You MUST do what you should have done three years ago: Tell your parents! It won't be easy, but it's the only way you'll be free of a dangerously sick man. He needs treatment, and he most definitely should not be allowed to remain in the teaching profession.

In cases like this, every effort is made to keep the identity of the girl a secret. Only a few will know and isn't this better than living in fear?—H.

Dear Helen: I am a high school girl and need help desperately. I met a man who 13 years older than me. He is married. I know it isn't right, but I still want to see him. He treats me like a woman and in a way I think he loves me.

He tries to get me to slip off with him and to turn against my parents. I've tried to stay out of his life but he says if I do, he'll go back to drinking. I don't want to hurt his wife by causing him to become an alcoholic, but if I don't stop seeing him I'll hurt her just as bad and me too. What shall I do?—OTHER WOMAN WHO IS ONLY A GIRL

Dear Girl: You know what you should do and do it on the double: get out of this married weakling's life! You won't keep him from drinking, but you MIGHT keep him out of jail if you refuse to be jail-bait.—H.

Dear Helen: My mother wears mini-skirts, but if I borrow one to wear to school they make me go home and change. Is that fair?—T.T.

Dear T: Your mother does many things you aren't allowed to do, but don't fret. One of these days you'll be old enough to wear short skirts too.

(Whatta switch! In my day the kids dreamed of growing up so they could wear skirts below their knees!—H.

PERSONAL TO MANY: Once more this is how you get overseas pen pals: Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope, to World Pen Pals, World Affairs Center, University of Minnesota, Minneapolis, Minn., 55455, and ask for an application form.—H.

"By BILL"

We know it is not a matter of national concern that there are things we do not understand and as the saying goes—why make a federal case out of it? But every once in a while it is good to just let oneself go and think out loud....

Wonder why it is that men in the armed forces go "over-seas" while the rest of us "travel abroad"?

Why do we have to coax children to eat and... use all sorts of persuasion to keep older ones from doing it?

Why is it that no matter how lousy we feel if you get a chance, to do something you really want to do, you improve so rapidly?

Why can't we just once, make a cheese cake like the pictures in the Gourmet magazine... we follow directions to the letter and what happens? Why, the thing is solid... like a rock. Any resemblance between cheese cake and the one pictured is about as remote as our looking like Taylor... Liz, that is.

Oh, well, there are some things in this life that need not be questioned and among them are the new spring styles at Raley's Style Shoppe. There is no use pretending to be modest about it, we have the merchandise and it is beautiful!

To Find Out If Bauman Is for Real

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
MONTREAL (AP) — Toe Blake, the combustible coach of the Montreal Canadiens, intends to find out very quickly whether young Gary Bauman is for real. Bauman is the 26-year-old rookie goaltender who rallied the slumping Canadiens to a 3-1 victory over Boston Sunday night, 24 hours after the Bruins had scored three third-period goals against Charlie Hodge for a 5-4 victory.

The performance earned Bauman a shot at the National Hockey League All Stars, who'll meet the Canadiens in the 20th annual classic here Wednesday night. "I thought Hodge started to look tired against the Bruins Saturday night," said Blake. "That's why I decided to play Bauman."

The youngster came up with 32 saves and now Blake is toying with the idea of keeping him in the nets for awhile. He's expected to split the All Star assignment with Hodge.

If Bauman holds up against an All Star frontline that includes Detroit's Gordie Howe, Bobby Hull and Stan Mikita of Chicago, Toronto's Frank Mahovlich and Rod Gilbert of New York, the Canadiens' netminding job could be his for awhile. Bauman won't know until just before game time whether he'll be starting against the All Stars. That's the system Blake used against Boston. "I didn't want him to get nervous," Toe said.

But Gary suspected that he might get the call and was prepared for it. "I'm kind of shaky you up a bit," he admitted. "But I tried to keep everything normal."

That will be tough to do against the All Stars, who have dominated this game in recent years. The Stars have won two straight and have lost only once in the last six tries against the Stanley Cup champions.

This is the first time that the All Star Game is being played at mid-season and the NHL's Board of Governors is taking advantage of the three-day schedule hiatus to hold executive meetings.

The meetings, which opened today, could produce a formula for stocking the six new expansion teams which begin playing next October, but it is not likely that the league will reveal the mechanics of the stocking system now.

Tennessee Pulls Major Cage Upset

Tennessee upset 10th-ranked Florida and Georgia upset sinking Kentucky, but Adolph Rupp of the Wildcats was more upset than anyone Monday night. And another defeat was not the reason.

"If I had 13,500 seats, I'd try to fill them," said the Kentucky Baron, whose Wildcats lost 49-40 after Georgia's stalling tactics left Kentucky leading 8-6 at the half.

Rupp pointed out that the fans normally object to low-scoring games, then added cuttingly, "Of course, it looks like they outsmarted us. After all Ken Rosemond won. He's the fair-haired boy and I'm just the old man."

"I know the fans don't like it," said Rosemond, whose Bulldogs beat Kentucky for the first time since 1950, "but you can't let the fans dictate how you play the game."

"Our kids realize their limitations, and it wasn't hard to convince them we had to do something. Our game plan was to hold them the first half and play them the second, and it worked perfectly."

Rosemond, whose team has won only six of 12 games, is in his second year at Georgia.

Kentucky, a regular college basketball power with a 572-152 record entering its 38th season under Rupp, fell to 5-7. A pre-season pick for the Top Ten after finishing second in the NCAA playoffs last March, the Wildcats are on their way to possibly their worst season under Rupp.

Rosemond said Kentucky should have been forced to try to break up the stall under rules that require a team to have two men out forcing the action on defense if it is behind or the score is tied.

However, Rupp retorted, "The team with the ball should be forced to play. How can you expect the team without the ball to start the action?" Tennessee moved faster than Florida, but still relied on a deliberate game to upend the Gators 66-53 and tumble them out of first place in the Southeastern Conference.

Ron Widby had 18 points and Tom Hendrix and Phil Justus 16 each as the Vols took a 36-27 halftime lead and fought off a Florida challenge that carried it within 36-35.

Vanderbilt took the lead in the SEC by riding Bob Warren's 13 points to its 13th victory in 15 starts, 71-65 over Auburn.

In a duel between two small college giants, top-ranked Southern Illinois nipped runner-up Kentucky Wesleyan 52-51.

Walt Frazier, who had 18 points, tied the game for SIU at 49-49 on a basket with 1:25 left and added another at 1:03. Chuck Benson's free throw made it 52-49 with 17 seconds left before Wesleyan's score with eight seconds remaining. SIU is 10-2 and Wesleyan 9-1.

Crosby Meet Entry List Complete

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — The entry list was complete today for the three-course Bing Crosby National Pro-Amateur Golf Tournament, starting Thursday, and PGA officials began adjusting the new Spyglass Hill layout for its introduction as one of the tourney battlegrounds.

Bob Tuthill of the PGA Tournament Field Staff set up Spyglass as he felt it would probably play for the tournament. After practice rounds today and Wednesday changes will be made if necessary in tee and pin placements on the holes with the illustrious names out of Robert Louis Stevenson — Billy Bones, Capt. Smollett, Long John Silver, Israel Hands, and piratical cohorts.

The championship tees of Spyglass Hill play at a gruelling 6,972 yards. Its medium tees cut the distance to 6,609 and some of these may be used out of consideration for the amateurs paired with the pros.

Pebble Beach and Cypress Point courses will be the same as they always have for the 26th Crosby on California's Monterey Peninsula.

Twenty-eight openings on the pro entry list were filled in medal play Monday on the 6,747-yard Pebble Beach course by a field of 122.

Rocky Thompson of Wichita Falls, Tex., Wright Garrett of Albany, N.Y., and Jim Welch of Atherton, Calif., shared low qualifying honors at one-under-par 71.

Lombardi Almost Put Hornung in

By MIKE RATHER
Associated Press Sports Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Coach Vince Lombardi, an acknowledged hunch player, almost played one during the Super Bowl game when he toyed with the idea of sending in onetime Golden Boy Paul Hornung to give the Green Bay Packers a psychological lift.

Lombardi made that revelation Monday when he made his final observations on the game, saying pointedly:

"In the first half, a couple of times, I seriously considered using him. I thought he might give us a lift. There's no question what he means to the Green Bay Packers. He's a great leader."

Lombardi also said that Hornung's status remains up to the doctors. The longtime star of the Packers has been having trouble with his left arm ever since he suffered a pinched nerve during the 1960 season.

"I think Hornung's arm is okay," Lombardi said. "If he gets hit on the head the arm will go limp. When that happens, he's in trouble. But it's really up to the doctors."

Hornung, meanwhile, was preparing to leave on a honeymoon after his marriage Wednesday and said he would wait until he has a thorough physical before deciding on his pro football future.

While Hornung remained a question mark, the status of fullback Jim Taylor also has not been determined and there was some doubt about the future of three other key team members.

Taylor played out his option with the Packers this year and did not sign a contract. There have been reports he would like to play for the New Orleans franchise which becomes operative next season as the National League's 15th team.

Lombardi didn't seem to be concerned either about Taylor or the retirement stories beginning "don't let me get carried away with myself."

So says 27-year-old golfer Kathy Whitworth, who was named The Associated Press top 1966 female athlete Monday by 428 sports writers and radio and television broadcasters who gave her 185 first-place votes and a 729-vote total.

It was the second straight year she won the honor. "I'm thrilled of course," she said Monday, "but nothing can take the place of last year's first award. Last year I never even thought about winning and it came as a big surprise. This year I had some warning."

Miss Whitworth is the youngest of three daughters in the Morris Whitworth family in this small southeast New Mexico town. Her father owns a hardware store. She says her parents won't build up her national fame.

"They're great parents. They keep me on the right level," Her 729 votes in the female athlete poll gave her a big edge against runner-up Billie Jean King of Long Beach, Calif., the Wimbledon singles tennis champion who finished with 521 points including 88 first-place votes.

Points were awarded on a basis of 3 for a first-place vote, 2 for a second and 1 on third.

Miss Whitworth repeated in 1966 as the leading money winner on the Ladies Professional Golf Association tour. She won nine official tournaments in 1966, her eighth year on the pro tour. Her official earnings totaled $33,511.

Louisville Clings to No. 2 Spot

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Undeclared UCLA increased its lead and Princeton gained additional ground in The Associated Press' weekly major-college basketball poll today.

The Bruins were unanimous choices in the voting by a national panel of 40 sports writers and broadcasters. A week ago, they had all except one vote which went to runner-up Louisville.

Louisville held the No. 2 position this week followed by Houston, North Carolina, Princeton, Texas Western, Kansas, Florida, New Mexico and Providence in that order.

UCLA increased its record to 12-0 last week with victories over Washington, California and Stanford.

Louisville was beaten by Southern Illinois, but rebounded to defeat Bradley. T. Cardinals, 14-1, collected 318 points in the balloting which was on a basis of 10 points for a first-place vote, 9 for second etc. The voting was based on games through last Saturday.

New Mexico's setbacks by Wyoming and Denver dropped it from third to ninth place. Houston rushed up from fourth and grabbed the No. 3 spot after defeating West Texas 103-72.

New Mexico's setbacks by Wyoming and Denver dropped it from third to ninth place. Houston rushed up from fourth and grabbed the No. 3 spot after defeating West Texas 103-72. North Carolina also advanced a notch to fourth after edging North Carolina State 79-78.

Princeton, unranked two weeks ago, moved to seventh last week and to fifth in the latest poll. The Tigers whipped Harvard 90-46 and Dartmouth 116-42 last week for a 13-1 mark.

Texas Western, an 85-73 victor over West Texas, held sixth place. Kansas beat Missouri 70-60 and climbed from eighth to seventh. Florida, which downed Mississippi State 78-63 and Kentucky 89-72, zoomed from 10th to eighth.

Providence slipped one place to 10th despite victories over Oglethorpe and Duquesne. The victory over the Duquesne Dukes was by seven points.

Year's Female Athlete Is Miss Whitworth

While Texas Christian remains safely in its No. 1 spot, Texas and Southern Methodist continue their battle Tuesday night for sole ownership of the No. 2 position in the Southwest Conference basketball race.

The Southern Methodist Mustangs play Arkansas at Fayetteville while the Texas Longhorns journey to College Station to play the Aggies.

The two Tuesday night tilts are the only conference games this week because of final examinations. Saturday night Texas Tech is host to New Mexico State in an intersectional affair.

Currently the Longhorns and Mustangs are tied for second place with 3-1 loop records while Texas Christian is the undisputed leader with a perfect 3-0 mark.

Arkansas is 2-2 in loop play, Baylor is 1-2 and Texas Tech, Rice and Texas A&M are in the cellar with 1-3 records.

Chiefs Fans Out to Greet the Squad

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Kansas City Chiefs, Super Bowl losers, were greeted by about 3,000 enthusiastic fans in windy, subfreezing weather at Mid-Continent International Airport Monday night.

Owner Lamar Hunt, coach Hank Stram and general manager Jack Steadman expressed gratitude for the turnout and vowed they would be back in the world title game next year.

Their words were partially drowned out by the roar of the chartered jet's engines, but each sentence was punctuated by a roar from the crowd. Stram introduced 15 players and his coaching staff. Each received a loud cheer. Hunt said he was sorry many of the players had to stay behind to play in the AFL All-Star game.

Green Bay whipped the Chiefs 35-10 in Sunday's big game and the club's plane was 45 minutes late, but the fans didn't mind.

Bullets Find a Spot to Play Counts

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Bullets have finally found the perfect spot to play Mel Counts: In another city, wearing a different uniform.

The Bullets dealt the 7-foot Counts to the Los Angeles Lakers Monday in exchange for Rudy LaRusso, and then swapped LaRusso to the Detroit Pistons for Ray Scott.

Counts had been mostly a National Basketball Association benchwarmer this season after being obtained in a trade with the Boston Celtics for Bailey Howell.

Howell was named to the Eastern Division team for last week's NBA All-Star game and Boston General Manager Red Auerbach had called it his best deal in 20 years in the league.

Leachville Unbeaten in State Play

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Unbeaten Leachville and once-beaten Blytheville moved into their showdown battle tonight holding on to the No. 1 and 2 positions in The Associated Press Arkansas high school basketball poll.

Leachville, the only team to beat the Chickasaws, retained first place with 129 points of a possible 130. The Lions got 12 first place votes and one second from a panel of 13 sports writers and broadcasters.

Blytheville got the other vote for first place and had 112 points.

Harrison, last year's poll winner, moved into third place with 93 points, one more than fourth place North Little Rock. Greenbrier was fifth and Whitehall sixth.

The power of fifth grade students showed as Searcy moved to seventh place with 40 points. Searcy had been overlooked in the voting despite being unbeaten, but unranked until a group of fifth grade students flooded Little Rock newspapers with letters wondering why their team was not being considered.

Rounding out the top ten in order were Little Rock Central, Fort Smith Northside and Little Rock Hall.

Here are the results of The Associated Press Arkansas high school basketball poll, with first place votes in parentheses and total points at right:

1. Leachville (12)	129
2. Blytheville (1)	112
3. Harrison	93
4. North Little Rock	92
5. Greenbrier	68
6. Whitehall	60
7. Searcy	40
8. Little Rock Central	37
9. Fort Smith Northside	29
10. Little Rock Hall	19

Others teams receiving votes, listed alphabetically: Brinkley, Hot Springs, Jonesboro, Lake Hamilton, Manila, Palestine, Springdale and Trumann.

Thinks Clay to Be Super Heavyweight

HOUSTON (AP) — Cassius Clay turned 25 today, a day he began like most training days, up before dawn to run in a wooded park in west Houston, jogging through the cold in the patch of brightness from the headlights of his white and tomato-red Lincoln Continental.

Trainer Angelo Dundee, driver of the trailing car, said Monday night Clay still is growing at age 25.

"His arms, his shoulders, his back muscles — they're all getting bigger," Dundee said. "He's going to be a super-heavyweight."

By his own testimony, Clay is ready for Feb. 6, the night he meets Ernie Terrell in the Astrodome to settle the world's heavyweight championship.

Clay, the consensus champion, said so Monday when he ran into Terrell, the World Boxing Association's champion, in the exhibit hall both share as a gym.

It was Terrell's first day in town and Clay was late clearing out after a workout without sparring partners. The crowd was gone and only a dozen or so of the two boxers' followers saw what happened.

"I'm ready, I'm ready," Clay said, throwing a shoulder against Terrell.

Terrell clutched at Clay's arms and the two went into a bear hug which lasted two or three minutes while trainers and promoters and bucket-bearers plucked and tugged at them, coaxing them to break the clinch, but not to start swinging.

The circling, sizing up and exchange of boasts went on for about 15 minutes and then it was over.

Coaching Track Stars Not Easy

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
BOSTON (AP)—Pity poor Bob Timmons, or maybe you were thinking it is some kind of snap to coach Kansas' gift to the superstars of track and field, Miller Jim Ryan.

It is no easy job, let Timmons hasten to say. For one thing people are always getting mad at him.

Timmons showed up at the Boston Knights of Columbus indoor track meet here Saturday night to get a look at what was supposed to be a pretty good crop of milers.

From that standpoint, the trip was a dud—Ergas Leps of Toronto won the mile in 4:06.4, a mark that hardly figures to threaten Ryan unless the 19-year-old Kansan breaks a leg midway through a race sometime.

But Timmons' stay here was less than pleasant from another angle, too. People kept asking him what he was doing there instead of Ryan, who is, of course, the answer to a meet director's prayer.

Timmons, a short, inordinately polite fellow who inserts "sir" into nearly every sentence he utters, did his best to explain, but he failed to mollify the Eastern track buffs and writers who considered it a personal affront that Ryan will make no indoor appearances in the area this winter.

"We're getting heat from all sides," he said. "Everybody's accusing us of boycotting this meet or that one, but the plain truth is Jim and I worked out the best schedule we could."

"Jim's not just any athlete," Timmons said. "The public expects a great performance out of him every time he runs, so we decided to keep his outside competition to a minimum."

As of now those outside appearances include meets in Portland, Ore., on Jan. 28—"He has some friends out there"—and Los Angeles next Saturday. Most of February is out because Big Eight Conference rules prohibit competition during the three weeks before the conference meet, set for March 3 and 4 in Kansas City.

Among those whom Timmons had come to see was Australian Tony Benson, who had gone four minutes flat and had been unbeaten from 800 meters to two miles this year. It was his American debut.

But Benson, after making a brief bid for the lead halfway through the race, faltered and finished seventh. NCAA champion Dave Patrick of Villanova, who has gone 4:02.1, was second behind Leps and Dave Bailey of Toronto was third.

The highlight of the meet was Bill Gaines' 5.2 clocking in the 50-yard dash. The 18-year-old high-school junior from Mullica Hill, N.J., tied Frank Budd's meet record and was one-tenth of a second off Barney Ewell's 1939 world mark.

Dave Ellis of Toronto won the two-mile at 8:47.6 with 1965 NCAA cross-country champion John Lawson, who holds the Boston Garden record of 8:39.8 finishing second. John Thomas of the Boston AA won the high jump at 7 feet, and Mel Hein of the Southern California Striders was the pole-vault winner at 16-0.

Martin McGrady of Central State University of Ohio won the 600-yard run in 1:10.0, well off his indoor record for the event of 1:09. Ricardo Urbina of Georgetown won the 1,000-yard run at 2:09.1 and Russ Rogers of New York's Grand Street Boys took the 45-yard high hurdles in 5.6.

Buckpasser Wins, Going for No. 15

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer
This is Eddie Neley's week in thoroughbred horse racing.

The popular trainer who saddled Buckpasser for his 14th straight victory in the San Fernando Stakes at Santa Anita last Saturday, was to go after the Tropical Park Handicap with Stupendous today.

Tuesday, he will send out Bold and Brave in the Royal Poinciana Handicap, feature of the opening day at Hialeah. Wednesday, he is hopeful Irish County will take the Jasmine at Hialeah, and on Saturday at Hialeah he will saddle Great White Way in the Hibiscus.

If he can sweep these stakes for the Phlipps family, it would be five straight in a week, another feather in the cap for Neley. He set records last year with 41 stake winners and aggregate earnings of $2,456,250, making him the first trainer to break the $2 million barrier for one year.

Neley also plans to start Bold Monarch, his hope for the Kentucky Derby, in an allowance race at Hialeah Tuesday.

Neley and Stupendous was set to face stern opposition in the $62,800 feature of Tropical Park's closing card today. Bold Bidder, a prove stakes winner, is the high weight at 126 pounds and is expected to go off the favorite.

Others in the field for the 1 1/4 miles test, in addition to Stupendous, included Davis 2nd, Toulouse, Exhibitionist, Come On 2nd, Naughty Jester, Steel Pike, Tenzing 2nd, and El Bonito.

Buckpasser passed Carry Back and moved into fourth place in the all-time money winning list at $1,271,224 with his victory in the San Fernando last Saturday. A $2.60 favorite he came from behind as usual and beat Fleet Host by 1 1/2 lengths in 1:48 1-5 for the 1 1/4 miles under 124 pounds.

Astrohall Getting a New Tenant

HOUSTON (AP)—The proprietors of Astrohall got ready for a second tenant today, Ernie Terrell, who will share the shiny gym with Cassius Clay until their heavyweight title fight across the way in the Astro-dome Feb. 6.

Until today, Terrell had been training in New Jersey, chopping wood as part of his workouts.

Clay, who celebrates his 25th birthday Tuesday, sparred six rounds Sunday — four with Jimmy Ellis and two with Mel Turnbow.

Why Not Take Look at Deep South Ark. When Going Camping

By MAX E. LOVE,
Travel Writer Arkansas Publi-city and Parks Commission

There are not many folks outside of Union and Ashley counties who have ever pitched a tent or parked a camper along the shore line of Grand Marais Lake, Pete Wilson Slough or Spring Bay in deep south central Arkansas, but those who have, will all agree, that "there just ain't many other places in Arkansas"—or anywhere else for that matter—that can quite match these small but natural bodies of water for outdoor recreation—especially for year-round fishing.

Geographically, this "fisher-man's paradise" is located in the southeastern section of Union County about 38 miles east of El Dorado.

These small, natural lakes—or sloughs—lie along the west bank of the Ouachita River and their shore lines are marked by towering cypress trees and literally millions of grotesquely shaped cypress "knees". And hidden among these cypress knees are some of the biggest, meanest, pugnacious largemouth bass you have ever "sunka hook" into. In addition to these fighting mon-sters, these lakes are filled with king-sized crappie, bream, gog-gle eye (rock bass) and blue chan-nel catfish. And, too, you can take your choice of fishing meth-ods with equal success—bait cast-ing, spin casting, fly fishing or just plain old pole fishing.

In appearance, depth and veg-etation, these lakes are similar to the sloughs or bayous of the delta country of south and cen-tral Louisiana—in fact, they are only about four miles north of the Louisiana line.

In the fall and winter—when the season is open—the tropical jungle-like bottom lands around these lakes and sloughs offer some of the finest squirrel, deer and duck hunting to be found in the state. And these same woods are literally filled with wild tur-key.

In the spring of the year when the "spring rains" back the wa-ters of the Ouachita into the low-lands, bream fishermen usually catch their limit—50-of "slab-size" blue gills and redears in an hour or so. And, friend, if you have never tackled a king-sized bluegill or redear on light tack-le, then you have never lived. True bream fishermen all agree that if a bluegill or redear ever reached four or five pounds it would take deep-sea tackle to land 'em.

Fishermen and hunters are not the only folks who love this tiny segment of south central Arkan-sas. Amateur—and profession-al—craftsmen who make pretty things, such as lamps and what-nots from eerie shaped cypress knees find this area a "para-dise" for their art.

Also, water sports enthusiasts—other than fishermen—have dis-covered that this particular stretch of the Ouachita River is a "natural" for boating, sking, etc.

Once or twice each summer, members of the Union County Boat Club, along with other boat-ing enthusiasts, will put their rigs into the river at Calion, 12 miles northeast of El Dorado and make a run all the way to Monroe, La., and return—in one day. Us-ually, from 50 to 100 boats will start this event, however, sel-dom do more than half that num-ber actually make the round trip. This is a tough run—over 200 river miles—and is open to any-one who would like to share in the fun.

Deadliest in Black Widow Brigade

By JERRY CURRY
GRANITE CITY, Ill. (AP)—Probably the deadliest soldiers in the U.S. Army are the seven members of the black widow brigade.

But the brigade will see only stateside action because its members—real female black widow spiders—are too valuable to trust outside individual glass jars.

"The spider spins a fine tough single strand web which we use in various sighting instru-ments," said Donn Kinney, the civilian chief of the Topograph-ic-Electronics Division at the Granite City Army Depot.

Each spider can produce up to 160 feet of web in a matter of seconds depending on her mood. The market price for the strands is $25 per 100 feet.

The black widow, which de-vours her husband early in mar-riage secretes one of the most toxic poisons known when it bites. There is immediate, acute pain at the point of the bite. The pain spreads quickly and the poison can cause death.

Treatment for a black wid-ow's bite includes strong seda-tives and heart stimulation with strychnine.

"Actually they're really not too hard to handle," said Kin-ney. "They're timid creatures and none of the men who work with the spiders has ever been bitten."

Like almost everything else, the brigade has its star, named "Ruthie." She's a cute little thing, said Kinney.

One man who helps the "timid creatures" spin their webs for the U.S. defense effort is El-waine Miller, a civilian. He commented: "I've never wor-ried about them, but I am care-ful."

To make the silky strands, which are one-five thousandth of an inch thick, the spider is re-moved from its glass jar by al-lowing it to climb on a piece of wood.

Then the black widow drops from the stick to the floor, spin-ning her web behind her. The web is wound around a rack at the spider works.

The black widows live about six months. New recruits are trapped around the Army post.

They don't earn much: two houseflies a week plus an occa-sional cricket for dessert.

Super Sunday For Hockey's Bobby Hull

It was a super Sunday for Bobby Hull and National Hock-ey League three goalies who were cashing minor league pay-checks a year ago.

Hull, on another of his charac-teristic scoring tears, whipped in two more goals Sunday night as Chicago blanked Toronto 4-0 behind Denis DeJordy's shutout goaltending.

The victory kept the Black Hawks tied for the NHL lead with New York, which blanked Detroit 2-0 on Ed Giacomin's sixth shutout of the season and second in the last three games.

Goalie Gary Bauman, making his NHL debut, led Montreal to its 3-1 victory over Boston.

Saturday night, Chicago had shelled Giacomin and beaten the Rangers 5-3, tying New York for the lead. Boston scored three goals in the final period and whipped Montreal 5-4. Toronto downed Detroit 5-2, stretching the Red Wings' win-less streak on the road to 19 games.

Hull's goals gave him 26 for the season and 11 in Chicago's last six games. The Golden Jet, who set an NHL record with 54 goals last year, is four ahead of New York's Rod Gilbert.

DeJordy, sharing the Black Hawks' goaltending chores with Glenn Hall this year after spending last season in the Cen-tral League, kicked out 26 Tor-onto shots for his first shutout.

Giacomin, so dismal a failure in his rookie year with the Ran-gers last season that he eventu-ally was returned to the minors, continued his stunning reversal with his sixth shutout.

He was brilliant against the Red Wings, making Bob Nevin's first period goal stand up until Harry Howell hit an empty net with six seconds remaining af-ter Detroit had pulled goalie Ro-ger Crozier for an extraattacker.

Giacomin stopped 227 shots and reduced his league leading goals against average to 2.24.

Bauman, called up a month ago after regular Gump Wor-sley underwent surgery for a knee injury, had sat on the bench while Charlie Hodge tend-ed goal for the Canadiens.

Trying to Win Over Natives

By KENNETH L. WHITING
SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — A twin-engine American plane dropped low over the Me-kong River delta just before dawn. It dropped no bombs or napalm. Instead, Buddhist fu-neral music blared from a loud-speaker mounted in the fuse-lage, followed by the wailing of a baby and the weeping of a woman.

"Is this your child? Is this your wife? What are you doing, fighting this war?" asked an amplified voice.

Loyal Viet Cong in the jungle below beat on pots and pans and shout Communist slogans to blot out such voices from above.

The sounds from the plane and the din on the ground are concerned with "Chieu Hol" — Open Arms.

This is the Saigon govern-ment's attempt to persuade Communist guerrillas to "rally to the national cause."

Despite serious flaws, the Chieu Hol program has worried the Viet Cong enough to draw retaliation.

Noisemaking to blot out the loudspeaker is part of it. More important are the assassination teams who seek out those who defect. Viet Cong terrorists each month kill or abduct from five to 10 Vietnamese who surrender to the government.

Chieu Hol is a key part of the effort to erode the Viet Cong infrastructure.

The broad aims of the pro-gram are to convert Viet Cong, gain intelligence, weaken the Communist cause and spread dissension.

Defectors are promised cash rewards, medical treatment, food, housing and jobs.

They get a bonus for each weapon they bring with them. A pistol earns 800 Vietnamese piasters — about $6.90. Turning in a recoilless rifle brings about $159.

Besides loudspeakers, the de-fectors are attracted by leaflets tossed from planes, radio propa-ganda, posters, pamphlets and slogans painted on buildings and trees. Safe-conduct passes are scattered in Viet Cong territory. Some defectors volunteer to join five-member armed propa-ganda teams. They visit ham-lets to demonstrate how well they were treated and urge vil-lagers to talk their relatives into defecting.

This is part of the U.S. psy-chological warfare — called "psywar" — which preys on their fears, hardships, loss of faith in Viet Cong victory state-ments, worries about their fam-ilies, and disillusionment with the Communist cause.

Criticism of the program in-cludes gripes by American GIs that loudspeaker planes wreck their sleep. More serious are administrative problems which have sapped its effectiveness.

In an official report, the Viet-namese undersecretary, Pham Anh, cited overcrowded recep-tion centers, inadequate medi-cal aid, boring indoctrination and tardiness in issuing new identification cards.

"Returnees do not always re-ceive prescribed benefit re-wards for arms, operating fees, and allowances," he said.

The defectors have caused internal friction. War refugees contend the ex-Communists are better treated than those dis-placed by combat. A newly built village for defectors at Phu Bai, 410 miles north of Saigon, stands trim and neat next to a ramshackle refugee center.

One U.S. official conceded that defectors are sometimes better treated than refugees.

"We figure it's worth it. Ev-ery defector is one less Viet Cong shooting at us," said Monte L. Osborne of the U.S. Agency for International Devel-opment.

THE DOCTOR'S MAILBAG
To Gain Weight, Eat More Than Body Uses as Energy
By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

I am a 15-year-old boy and am underweight. Could I have had for three years make me thin? How can I gain weight?

A-Rheumatic heart disease would not be a direct cause of loss of weight or of failure to gain. In severe cases it might even cause a gain in weight due to waterlogging.

You should have an examination to rule out any other cause, such as tuberculosis. If you have no debilitating disease, your problem is to take in more calories every day than you spend as energy. Underweight persons often fail to gain weight when they increase the amount of sugar and starch they eat, such as bread and jam, candy and cake. These foods quickly satisfy the appetite of underweight persons.

Try eating three eggs a day, a glass of half milk and half cream three or four times a day. You may have to force yourself to eat this much at first, but if you stay with it, you should gain. It may help to lie down for 10 or 15 minutes when you think you have eaten all you can because your stomach will empty faster when you are lying down. Then go back to the table for seconds.

I am a 16-year-old girl. How can I gain 15 pounds without eating greasy foods which make my face break out? Is there any hormone that would help me?

A-Although some fats may aggravate acne, they do not cause it. No one should avoid all fats. Margarine and butter are easily digested and, taken in moderation, will not make your face break out. Avoid the fat attached to meat and the skin of fish and fowl. In addition to the foods recommended in the preceding answer, eat one cubic inch or more of cheese (American, longhorn or brick) every day. I would not advise any drugs to help you gain.

I am an 88-year-old man. I have lost 25 pounds in the last three years. In the last year I have also lost much of my energy. What do you advise?

A-You must first find out whether your loss of weight is being caused by tuberculosis, cancer, an overactive thyroid, adrenal deficiency, diabetes, anemia, alcoholism or chronic diarrhea. Treatment of the underlying cause must come first. In many elderly persons loss of weight is a direct result of depression, boredom and loneliness. When this is the cause, stanolol (Winstrol), which is available only on a doctor's prescription, should improve both your appetite and your mental outlook.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters he will answer letters of general interest in future columns. Maryland has a total area of 10,577 square miles; 9,874 being land and 703 water.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Few cities in eastern Europe have had a more volatile history than Danzig (Polish Gdansk), says The World Almanac. The city was originally Polish but was captured by the Teutonic knights in 1308, returned to Poland 146 years later, taken by Prussia in 1793, made a free city in 1807, returned to Prussia in 1814, made a free city again in 1919, and then annexed by Germany in 1939. After World War II, Danzig was finally restored to Poland, where it has remained under the name of Gdansk.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By Oswald & James Jacoby

The bidding system used by Benito Garrozzo and Omar Sharif is the Neapolitan Club plus certain variations developed by Garrozzo.

Like many European systems it uses what is known as canape bidding. One bids the shorter of two suits first and the longer one later on.

We cannot see any real advantage to this style of bidding even though it does produce some swings in its favor.

When today's hand was played in the Men's Pairs at the Pittsburgh Nationals, the normal American bidding started with one diamond by South. North responded one spade. Most pairs proceeded to four spades although a couple got all the way to six.

In all instances East made his normal opening lead of the queen of hearts and the defense gathered in the first two tricks.

Omar Sharif opened with the canape bid of one spade. Benito jumped to three spades. Omar showed his real suit by bidding four diamonds. Benito's bid of five clubs was a slam try and Omar's five diamond call was a mild acceptance. With the ace of hearts Omar would have bid five hearts. Without the king of hearts Omar would have signed off at five spades.

Benito needed no more encouragement to contract for the small slam. There was nothing to play. Omar won the first trick with dummy's ace of clubs and drew trumps. Then he discarded dummy's hearts on his long diamonds and conceded one club trick.

A real top score because four spades bid and six made would have been just as good at match points.

Retarded But He's Learning Very Rapidly

By JOHN MCALEENAN
Staff Writer of "Today"
Written for The Associated Press

EAU GALLIE, Fla. (AP) — Eighteen times a day, a kitchen timer calls with an irritating buzz to Mike McLester, 6. On the first signal at 8 a.m. Mike climbs up on a table and goes through the business of learning to crawl. On another, he sits patiently on the floor while his mother stuffs his mouth full of peanut butter. When another buzz is heard, he grips a pencil and draws endless circles on paper. These unusual exercises, and many more, are speeding Mike's mental growth. In just 10 months, he actually has become 18 months older, neurologically. Because of brain damage, Mike is mentally retarded. The program he is following, with help from his parents and volunteer workers, is a brain rehabilitation concept called "patterning."

It started 10 months ago and Mr. and Mrs. Fred McLester have two more years to go with Mike in the program. It's hard and sometimes frustrating work, but the result might be a boy with normal abilities. Doctors a thousand miles away, at the Philadelphia Institute for Rehabilitation of Brain-Injured Children, are directing the work with Mike. The object is to program the brain like a computer, "teaching" it by repeating certain functions over and over again. The institute says 86 per cent of the patients have "been returned" as productive members of the human society.

When he was three, Mike had not talked. One doctor advised the family to "shut up for awhile" and give Mike a chance to talk. Another said it would only take time. But if Mr. and Mrs. McLester had just shut up and waited, they would have waited forever. They took Mike to the University of Florida Medical School two years ago and learned that he was mentally retarded. They took him back home knowing that some day they would have to put him in a home that takes care of such children. But they loved him too much for that. They took him to Philadelphia when he was five. His "neurological" age then was 26 months.

HOPE (ARK) STAR, Printed by Offset

After weighing the expense of the program, the work and the sacrifices, McLester decided:

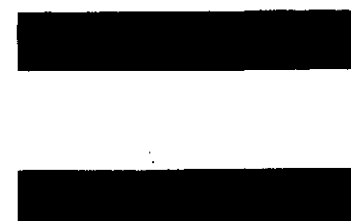

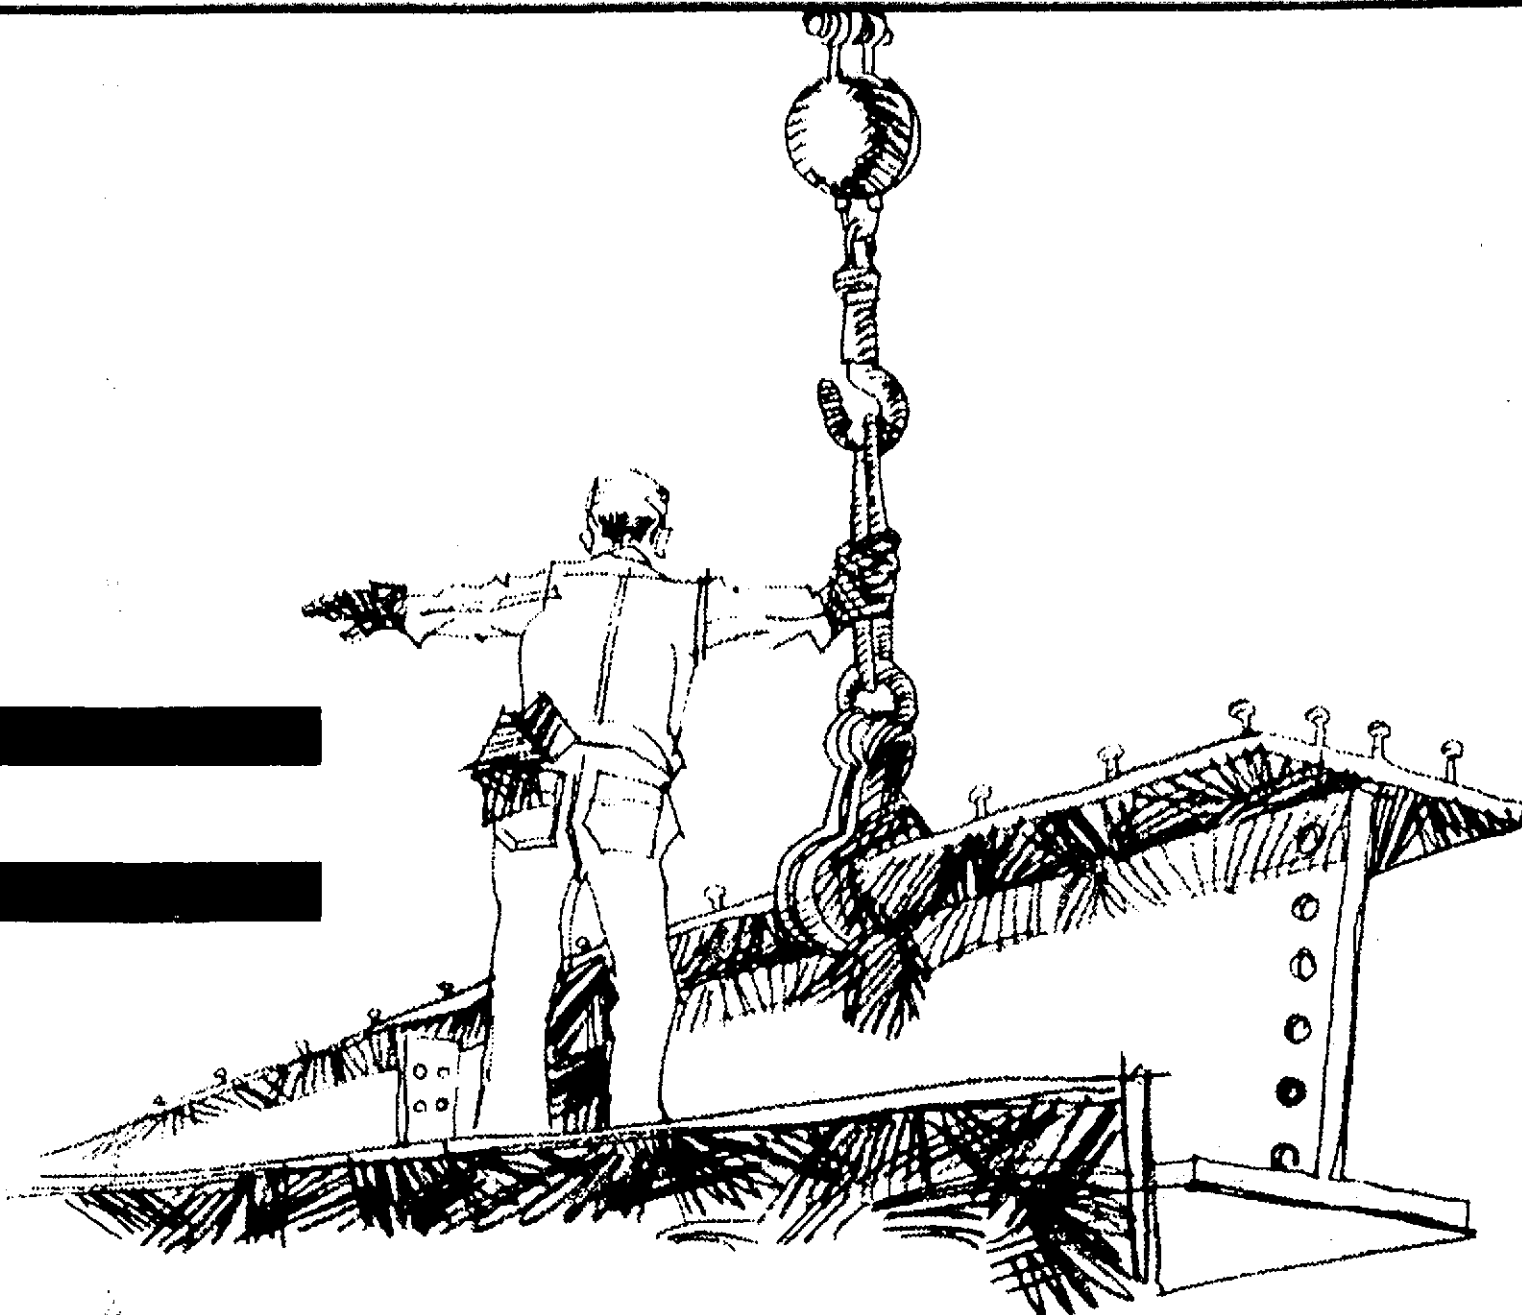

"Mike has got to have a chance. If it doesn't work, no one can say we didn't give him that chance." The treatments have been hard and demanding. Sometimes, Mrs. McLester must yell at Mike. Mike's father loves pro football, used to live for Sundays when he could watch the games on television. Now, because music or commercials might interrupt the patterning, the set remains dark. Mike's sister, Mary, 10, had to sacrifice the parental attention she craved so they could devote more time to her brother. But today, neurologically,

Mike has grown to 44 months old. For two more years, the life of the McLesters must revolve around the raucous calls of that kitchen timer. Each time it buzzes, it signals the start of another patterning program. Mike can run and walk, but six times a day he gets up on that table and practices crawling. "We take the children back to the day they were born, a doctor explained. "In patterning, basic functions are taught again. Mike's mouth is stuffed with peanut butter after each crawling exercise so that he will use his tongue. He learns to pick out round objects surrounded by square and rectangular one. He picks coins up off the floor and puts them down again. Twice last year, Mike received a "neurological" report card. He has scored all A's. Soon there will be audio, visual and reading exercises. Sometimes, he says very clearly, "I love you, Mommy." "Sometimes, after this is over, the child not only makes a complete recovery but is brighter than a normal child the same age," Mrs. McLester said. "Can you imagine that? It would be a miracle."

Tuesday, January 17, 1967 Military Ships Leaving France

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
LONDON (AP) — Nearly 100 U.S. military ships will begin moving this month from bases in France to the ports of Poole and Hythe on England's South Coast. Landing craft, barges, tugs and floating cranes that make up the U.S. Army floating equipment reserve are coming to this side of the channel in the shuffle caused by President Charles de Gaulle's expulsion of units of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization from France.

There are two sides to every dollar you spend in Arkansas for telephone service

One side buys you good telephone service—and at a bargain price. The other plays a vital role in our state's continued economic growth and development.

In 1967, Southwestern Bell's construction and service expansion program for Arkansas will total another huge $25,600,000. New buildings and building additions, more weather-proofed cables, and the installation of the most modern communications equipment are just a few of the construction projects scheduled to insure the continuation of top-notch telephone service.

This building and expansion program calls for everything from bricks to bulldozers, limestone to lumber—plus the skilled manpower to get the job done.

There's also the $22,000,000 in wages Southwestern Bell people spend or bank in Arkansas, to be used for meat and groceries, shoes and clothing, recreation, gasoline, housing, education and many other everyday items. These dollars mean even more and better-paying jobs for thousands more Arkansans.

The $5,000,000 the company pays in property, city, county, school, state and other taxes makes Southwestern Bell one of our state's largest taxpayers. Much of that money comes back to you in better schools, new highways and finer hospitals. This doesn't even include the almost $12 million we pay in federal income taxes.

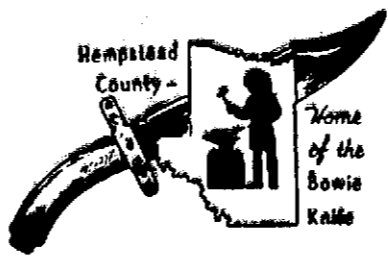

Be sure to include the many dollars we spend locally in buying the goods, supplies and services

we need to keep the telephone business running in Arkansas, plus all the additional funds we return to our state in stockholder dividends.

Add it all up and you get a grand total of more than $60,000,000—considerably more than $1,000,000 a week. So you see, that other side to your telephone dollar is important. It rolls on and on... helping to build a better Arkansas.

WHAT THE 6% SURTAX MEANS

INCOME	$2,000	$3,000	$5,000	$7,500	$10,000	$12,500	$15,000
TAX INCREASE	0	0	0	$20.58	$33.42	$47.01	$61.86
	$4.89	$9.87	$20.13	$35.04	$52.26	$71.94	$94.62

Providing Congress approves the 6 per cent surtax requested by the President in his State of the Union message, some 67 million Americans face the prospect of increased income taxes. Examples of the increases average taxpayers can look forward to are for a single person and a married couple with two children, taking all their exemptions and the standard deduction. The surtax—an additional levy on taxes paid rather than on total income—is designed to hit rich and middle-income citizens. Some 18 million low-income taxpayers would not be affected.

Republicans Demand Spending Slash to Avert Tax Increase

By WALTER R. MEARS
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Republican rebuttal to President Johnson's State of the Union message will demand a budget cutting drive to avert the 6 per cent surtax on most incomes that Johnson has proposed.

But while opposing the surtax, the GOP will endorse the U.S. position in Vietnam which, in part, is causing the need for additional income. At the same time, it will accuse the administration of foreign policy blunders elsewhere in the world.

The Republican leaders of Congress, Sen. Everett M. Dirksen and Rep. Gerald R. Ford, will outline their view of the State of the Union Thursday night in a 30-minute nationally televised report from the Capitol's old Supreme Court chamber.

Their speeches are still in preparation, and all the decisions have not yet been made. But a Senate source familiar with the GOP's basic points provided an advance account today.

Dirksen will deal with foreign policy, reaffirming GOP support of the President's course in Vietnam. But his report also will raise critical questions about policy elsewhere, the source said.

Dirksen will criticize administration handling of the Alliance for Progress programs in Latin America and also complain of disarray in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

In addition, the source said, Dirksen will have critical words about U.S. policy in Africa and the Middle East.

There will be criticism, too, of American trade policies, alleging that they have caused harm to some U.S. industries, the source said.

Diagnostic, Remedial Center for Schools in 5-County Area

A meeting of 175 Hempstead County school staff members was held last week at the Hope High School. The teachers and administrators were presented a program on the new Southwest Arkansas Diagnostic and Remedial Center which will serve Hempstead County as well as Nevada, Lafayette, Ouachita and Columbia counties.

The primary concern of the Center is the discovery and diagnosis of school age children who have a learning problem of any type, whether it be vision, hearing, retardation or any number of other causes. The Diagnostic Center office is located in Magnolia and the team of specialists will operate on a regularly scheduled basis in each school in the five-county area. The Hope school system will have a resident psychologist who will assist the school staff in evaluation and remedial programs whenever possible.

Dr. Fay W. Smith, Director of the Center, gave a brief overview of the project and what is planned for the coming month. Dr. Smith also stated that the Center staff would work toward helping each teacher establish a remedial program for each of

2 Killed in Mt. Ida Wreck

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
MOUNT IDA, Ark. (AP) — Bruce L. Ferguson, 24, of Ward and Jody L. Brown, 65, of Mount Ida were killed Monday in the collision of two trucks on U.S. 270 about 1.3 miles east of here.

State Police said Ferguson lost control of his tractor-trailer truck, skidded into a bridge railing and overturned. Brown's pickup truck then crashed into the wreckage, officers said.

Combs to Resign in a Few Days

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Insurance Commissioner Harvey G. Combs said Monday he will resign within a few days rather than waiting until after a hearing scheduled for Feb. 23 on proposed automobile insurance rate increases.

Combs said he wanted to discuss the matter with Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller, who has said he wanted Combs to stay on the job until after the hearing.

the children in their class with learning difficulty.

Dr. Smith introduced five of the staff who will be working with the school in the program; Bruce Love, who will be the Hope Satellite psychologist; Charlotte Pickens, social worker; Dr. Larry Roberts, psychologist; Rudy Burrough, educational specialist; and Joe Walshall, administrative assistant. Each of the staff gave a brief description of a facet of the total project.

It is hoped that the Diagnostic and Remedial Center will be a valuable addition to the total community services since approximately 20 percent of all school age children have some type of learning problem. This applied to Hempstead County means that there are approximately 933 children in the county with learning difficulties. While the Diagnostic Center will not be able to reach all of these children, hopefully it will be of assistance to the more urgent cases.

Referral procedures have been made available to one contact person in each school and all inquiries as to services should be made through the local schools.

Paralyzing Blizzard in Midwest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A paralyzing blizzard pounded areas in the northern Midwest today, with huge drifts of snow blocking streets and highways, curtailing motor and air travel and closing schools.

The season's coldest weather, with temperatures of nearly 30 below zero in some areas, spread across wide sections.

The Weather Bureau issued cold wave warnings for a 15-state area from the Canadian border southward to northern Oklahoma and eastern New Mexico and eastward from the Rockies to Missouri, Illinois and Indiana.

The blizzard, packing wind gusts up to 70 miles an hour, swept from the northern Plains into Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan. Blizzard warnings were posted for northeastern Iowa.

Winds of 40 to 60 m.p.h. whipped the snow through the air, halting snow-clearing operations on highways in Minnesota. Some cities reported visibility Monday dropped at times to zero.

At least three storm-related deaths were reported. Two men died in Minnesota while shoveling snow and a woman in South Dakota was crushed to death when a trailer blew over in a trailer court.

As the storm roared into Michigan's Upper Peninsula Monday night, winds of 50 m.p.h. whipped the snow, halting travel on many highways. Four inches of snow fell in a six-hour period during the night at Marquette, making a total of four feet on the ground near Lake Superior.

There were at least five school buses stranded in western and southern Minnesota. Six men roping themselves together marched abreast on a road for 3½ miles to lead a bulldozer to a bus with 30 school children, near Chokio, Minn.

Five passengers suffered cuts and bruises when a Greyhound bus bound from Minneapolis to Chicago overturned near Tomah, Wis. All commercial buses were called off Minnesota highways Monday afternoon and were not to resume travel until today.

Snow moved in with the cold weather along the eastern slopes of the Rockies and in the adjacent high plains. Three inches of snow fell at Colorado Springs.

Early morning readings ranged from 28 below zero at International Falls, Minn., to 69 at Key West, Fla.

Purcell Fires Hale Over Prison Deal

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Eugene B. Hale Jr., lodged in the center of two controversial issues during the past week, has resigned as assistant attorney general.

Hale said Atty. Gen. Joe Purcell asked for his resignation late Monday because of Hale's role in the release of conditions at Tucker Prison Farm and in the pending hearing on automobile liability insurance rate increases.

Purcell's office issued a brief statement on the resignation without listing any reason. Hale later told newsmen that he "was fired, or rather asked to resign."

"He didn't give me any reason but I know what they were," said Hale, a soft spoken 29-year-old aide to former Gov. Orval Faubus.

Hale said Purcell had urged him to drop a case he was handling for Faubus in the insurance rate increases after Hale issued a statement Wednesday night saying he would issue a subpoena for Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller to testify at the hearing.

Then, last Sunday, a story under Hale's byline appeared in The Pine Bluff Commercial relating Hale's part in an investigation of Tucker Prison Farm last August.

10,000 More GIs Going to Viet Nam

By BOB HORTON
WASHINGTON (AP) — Ten thousand more GIs will go to South Vietnam this month, boosting the U.S. force there to 405,000, Pentagon sources said today.

These officials predicted that by the end of the year the United States will be supporting a force of 475,000 in the Southeast Asian country.

At present there are 395,000 American servicemen in South Vietnam. The over-all Southeast Asian commitment stands at nearly 500,000, including 50,000 to 60,000 Navy men aboard ships of the 7th Fleet off Vietnam plus around 30,000 men, mostly Air Force, based in neighboring Thailand.

The steadily expanding buildup was signaled Monday by Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, who told a Pentagon news conference there has been no change in President Johnson's policy stated in 1965.

That policy, he said, is that Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. forces in South Vietnam, will be supplied the men and materials he needs.

Published reports have said that the Joint Chiefs of Staff disagree with what was described as an administration-set ceiling of 460,000 to 480,000 men in Vietnam.

Wheeler said Gen. Westmoreland does not differ with Washington officials over what force is needed in South Vietnam.

Wheeler, a four-star general, said he would "stick his neck out" by saying flatly the Communists have lost any chance they once may have had for a military victory in South Vietnam.

Does this mean the United States is bound to win, Wheeler was asked.

"I think so," he replied, declining to pick a date when the moment of victory will come.

The two said they took the turtle as a prank. At the court's order Saturday, the turtle was returned to the tank of a tortoise shell manufacturer from where it was taken.

Cash Talked, Report on Prison Says

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller has released a state police report in which inmates tell of torture, beatings and extortion at Tucker State Prison Farm, where one said "almost anything could be had" if the prisoner had the money.

Rockefeller called the 67-page report shocking and urged the legislature to create a commission to study conditions in the prison system and recommend improvements.

He said he hoped the report would "shock the legislature and the people of this state into action."

The report released Monday was based on an inquiry made by the criminal investigation division of the state police last August, when prisoners were reported on the verge of a riot because of conditions. Former Gov. Orval E. Faubus ordered the investigation, but withheld the report.

The report was accompanied by pictures of torture devices and confiscated weapons and prisoners who had been beaten.

Rockefeller, a Republican who assumed office Jan. 10, said he did not doubt its validity. State Rep. Bill Wells, however, said in the Arkansas House that he questioned the source of information.
